

What We Do ...

On the second Saturday of every month, Reading to Kids brings together volunteers from throughout Los Angeles to participate in our monthly reading clubs. Volunteers gather at our partner elementary schools to read aloud to children, help create a craft project, and give every child a free book! The books that are read at each reading club are donated to the school libraries.

El segundo sábado de cada mes, Reading to Kids junta a voluntarios de todo Los Angeles. Los voluntarios se reúnen en las escuelas para leer en voz alta a los niños, ayudar a crear proyectos de arte, y regalar un libro a cada niño para llevar a casa. Los libros leídos en las escuelas son donados a las bibliotecas escolares.

Make contact

Reading to Kids partners with elementary schools in the Los Angeles Unified School District. These schools are located in low-income neighborhoods where the majority of students are English language learners.

School Personnel

Reading to Kids works closely with principals, teachers, and administrators at our partner schools to ensure the monthly reading clubs run smoothly and that they engage students in a fun and meaningful way.

As a thank you to teachers who volunteer their Saturday mornings with us, each receives five paperback books to help them grow their classroom libraries. Interested teachers should contact their principal or Reading to Kids liaison for more information.

“On Reading to Kids Saturdays there is a near-festive atmosphere at school. The children come on a Saturday because they want to be here. They eagerly await the moment when the volunteers emerge from the auditorium to take them to the classrooms and read the book for the day.”

~ Phil Hughes

3rd grade teacher, Magnolia Elementary School

“Leo Politi made the greatest API gains of any school in the area – 53 points, from 698 to 751! Reading to Kids should sincerely participate in this feeling of pride, as our monthly events have helped us raise achievement in language arts. I hope you will share the good news with the Reading to Kids community.”
